

I think the content protections have become too rigid in some areas such as nudity and too lax in others such as violence and ethics. I would prefer standards more similar to European standards.